

Ayham Alsuleman

Ayham has worked for a number of organisations helping to build the capacity of local communities and local governments to welcome and resettle refugees.

Back in Syria, he worked for the United Nations and a number of charities responding to the needs of internally displaced people.

